CAB DRIVER FOUND.

Another Link in the Pearl Bryan Murder Mystery.

STORY TOLD BY A COLORED MAN.

He Claims to Have Driven a Horse and Surrey Containing Pearl Bryan, Scott Jackson and Alonzo Walling to the Spot Where the Girl's Body Was Found. Some Doubts About His Story.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 17.—The mystery surrounding the beheading of Pearl Bryan is gradually being cleared up. The missing link in the chain of evidence against the men Jackson and Walling, under arrest for nearly two weeks for the murder of Pearl Bryan, has been supplied.

The driver of the vehicle that conveyed the unfortunate Indiana girl and her slayers to the Kentucky Highlands, and for whom the police and newspaper reporters have sought in vain for 11 days has been found. Rather he found himself. He is a young colored coachman named George H. Jackson.

Jackson first broached the subject he desired to rid his mind of to Officer Swain, who patrolled the beat on Mount Auburn, that includes the residence of Major W. S. Whiffeld, on McGregor avenue, for whom he has served as coachman. He subsequently repeated his story to Lieutenant Thornton of the Corryville district, and told it again for a third time to Mayor Caldwell, officers and citizens in the mayor's office, always without variation.

Jackson gave an account of his movements on the evening of Jan. 31 and said that while he was in a saloon at the northwest corner of George and Elm streets a man came in and asked if anyone present wanted to make $5. Jackson asked him what service he wanted rendered and he said he wanted a hack driven to Newport.

"The $5 looked like a big pile to me," said Jackson, "but I refused to take the job, as did also several others. The man finally called me to one side and talked to me a while, and I finally agreed to drive the hack for him. I asked him where his money was and he said that he would give it to me when we returned; that he did not propose to pay me until I had done the work. He then explained that he was a doctor and that he and another physician had a very sick patient whom they wanted to take to her home near Newport. He told me to wait about half an hour and he would drive the cab down George street.

"I waited fully three-quarters of an hour; it seemed longer than that to me, and he surprised me by driving south on Elm street instead of coming down George. I also noticed when he drove up that he had a surrey and not a cab. He directed me to get in the front seat, and he then entered the back part of the vehicle, where, I learned later, there was another man and a woman. I was directed to drive rapidly toward Newport, and this I did. When I reached the other side of the bridge I could not understand the directions, and did not know which way they wanted me to go, and one of the men, the same one who had engaged me for the job, came around and sat on the front seat with me.

"About this time the woman began to moan and cry in an undertone, and there was a sort of whispered conversation between her and the other man. This continued for some time and finally I discovered there was something wrong. The woman acted as though she was suffering great agony, and though I could not see her nor the man with her, her cries and moans frightened me. I got so scared that I finally said to the man next to me: 'Here, I don't want any more of this job; there is something wrong with that woman back there, and I don't want to have anything more to do with this.' I handed the lines to him, but instead of taking them and allowing me to get out, he placed a gun at my head, and, calling me a terrible name, said that if I did not drive on he would put a bullet in my head and drive me to hell.

"I saw there was nothing more to do but to drive on, 'cause I didn't want him to kill me, too. I did this, and all the way the woman seemed to be getting worse, and at times she almost screamed out loud, but the sound seemed to be muffled. Seemed like she had her head buried in her lap, or something like that. When we got to a place up on the road, which I am quite sure is near to Fort Thomas, and where there is a lane leading down to a bushy spot, I was directed to stop. I pulled up to the side of the road near the entrance to the lane, and the man in the back seat got out and lifted the woman. He had to drag her from the buggy, and she seemed unable to stand on her feet.

"After he got her out and was holding her in his arms the man who was on the seat with me said: 'Now, you d—d black nigger, you turn around here, and when we are ready for you we will whistle. If you try to get away or ever say anything to any one about this job we will kill you; and you see we are prepared to do it. If we ever hear anything about this we will know you told it, and your life won't be worth a fig.'

"He then got out and walked around behind the carriage, and the two men carried, or rather dragged, the woman down the lane. I followed directions, drove up the road a little ways and turned around. I then heard some funny noises coming from the direction in which they had gone, which sounded like they were scuffling in the leaves. I could hear the cries of the woman, which, as before, seemed to be smothered, but it was so dark that I could see nothing.

"I got so scared at this that I made up my mind to get away from there just as quick as I could. There was a hitching weight in the carriage; I threw this out on the ground, fastened the horse to it, and started down the road, walking about as fast as I could. I hadn't gone very far when the men discovered what I was doing, and hollered at me. I then started to run as fast as I could, and didn't stop until I got clear back to Cincinnati. I got out home about half-past 3 or a quarter of 4. What became of the men after I left there I do not know, and I do not know where they took the carriage."

Jackson then gave a description of the horse and surrey, and explained his silence by saying that he was afraid as the men had threatened him with death if he ever told.

After he had told his story he was driven to the county jail. There his identification of Walling as the man who occupied the driver's seat and who held a revolver at his head was complete. Jackson's identification was only partial, though he had said before that he did not think he would know the man who rode in the back seat with the lady.

The man's reputation is of the best, his story is accepted to the full by the authorities, and he will be allowed his full freedom.

The police and mayor are now satisfied they have now a complete chain of evidence against the men, Jackson and Walling. Some mysteries remain to be probed. There is first the disposition of the head of the murdered girl; then the whereabouts of Miss Bryan on Thursday night, and finally the owner of the conveyance that George Jackson drove. These, it is believed, will ultimately be brought to light.

THIS IS DIFFERENT.

Jackson's Reputation in Springfield, O., Is Not of the Best.

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 17.—Cabman George Jackson, connected with the Fort Thomas murder, is wanted here for the embezzlement of $27 from the United Brethren of Friendship. Last September Jackson claimed that he was assaulted and robbed by William Melvin, but in police court Melvin proved that he was over two miles away from the place of the alleged assault at the time.

Jackson is a sufferer from epileptic fits and is imaginative and likes public notice. Dr. Vance, his employer here, substantiates the above, and says that he doesn't believe Jackson drove the cab, because he was too cowardly. The same belief exists among the colored people here.

Soldiers Held in Readiness.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 17.—The McCleary Guards are held in readiness to respond to the orders of the adjutant general to report to the sheriff of Campbell county. They have had 2,000 rounds of ammunition issued to them.

NORTH POLE NEWS CONFIRMED.

Dr. Nansen Believed to Be on His Return Home.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The British consul at Archangel, capital of the Russian government of that name, telegraphs confirming the report that Dr. Nansen is safe and returning from the north pole.

The news of Dr. Nansen's success has created intense interest in this city. The report received from Irkutsk, Siberia, was generally discredited at first, although more faith was placed in it than in the previous rumors which have reached London during the past 12 months. The dispatch from the British consul at Archangel, given above, is regarded as conclusively showing that the Norwegian explorer is homeward bound, even if he has not discovered the pole.

Dispatches received here from different parts of the continent indicate that the same interest in the news from the north is manifested throughout Europe, and it is also generally credited at the European capitals, although even Dr. Nansen's wife and relatives did not believe the announcement which came through Kouchareff, the agent of Dr. Nansen, near the mouth of the Lena river, residents of which locality frequently visit New Siberia.

Later advices say that the news of Dr. Nansen's safety was sent by Kandoroff, the local Russian official in the Yakutsk region, who was a member of the Siberia-Koffs expedition.

Dr. Nordenskiold, who is in Christiania, is inclined to believe the news of Dr. Nansen's safety at any rate, even if it is not true that he has succeeded in discovering the north pole.

According to the opinion of Arctic experts here, when the Fram left Karasea in 1893, she may have found the sea, northwards, free of ice and pushed on until she was locked in. They add that she may then have been allowed to drift until the expedition came to land around the pole, and that Dr. Nansen and his party may have returned in sledges to the Siberian islands.

At the Siberian islands, it is believed, Dr. Nansen and his companions may have been stopped by the broken ice.

Dr. Nansen wrote to Baron Toll, from Yugoro straits, saying that he expected to return to Koteny, Siberian islands, where dogs have been awaiting him.

Mr. Scott Keltie, a member of the Royal Geographical society and the agent of Dr. Nansen in England, in an interview said he was surprised that he had not received a telegram from Dr. Nansen, but he thought it probable that the explorer had returned after reaching the pole. He added, however, that he did not know exactly how Dr. Nansen would prove he had been there.

FORECAST OF CONGRESS.

Appropriation Bills Will Be the Leading Topics Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The prospects are for a busy week in the senate, but outside of the fact that Senator Davis will speak in support of the Monroe doctrine and that the appropriation bills which have been reported will be taken up and probably disposed of, no definite forecast of the proceedings can be given.

Senator Davis' speech is expected to be a strong and logical expression of the views of the more advanced advocates of the Monroe doctrine.

There are three of the appropriation bills on the senate calendar, but it is not believed that any of them, unless it be the consular and diplomatic bill, will arouse any prolonged debate. It is possible that the diplomatic bill may not excite debate. This bill affords an opportunity to discuss foreign affairs generally, and it is very rarely allowed to pass without senators availing themselves of this opening to discuss diplomatic questions. It is also possible that the pension bill will be taken advantage of to discuss the pension question at some length.

The military academy appropriation bill will be the first of the series to be taken up.

The Cuban resolution has been given the place of precedence after the appropriation bills, but it is not yet certain that this subject will be taken up seriously until the senators who may wish to speak upon it shall have opportunity to prepare themselves. Senator Call will speak on the subject if he succeeds in getting it up and possibly one or two other senators will be heard.

The senate committees have been unusually active since the holidays, and with the consequence that there is an accumulation of business sufficient to cover 27 pages of the calendar, embracing subjects in which all the senators are interested. There is therefore a general desire to work on the calendar, and the probabilities are that with the appropriation bills out of the way the calendar will be resorted to and a large number of bills of minor importance acted upon.

There continues to be more of less discussion of a private nature among senators as to the probabilities of getting up the tariff bill in some form, but this depends almost wholly upon whether the friends of the bill can obtain assurance of success in whatever move they make.

The reports of both the majority and minority of the committee on privileges and elections on the Dapont case, the former favoring the seating of Mr. Dapont as senator from Delaware and the latter opposing that course, will be made to the senate, but the debate which is sure to occur on this question will be postponed until later in the session.

There is beginning to be a great deal of talk in the senate of an early adjournment. If it is made evident that there will be no tariff legislation many senators think that an adjournment by the 1st of June will be possible.

House Program.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Most of the time of the house this week will be taken up with the consideration of appropriation bills. The agricultural bill should be disposed of early in the week unless a prolonged debate should be precipitated on the question of seed distribution by the agricultural department. The Indian and army appropriation bills are ready and the appropriation committees expect to have the executive legislative and judicial bill reported by Wednesday.

The foreign affairs committee will call up the resolution to censure Ambassador Bayard as soon as those in charge of the appropriation bills which have the right of way afford an opportunity to do so.

The foreign affairs committee is also working on a Cuban resolution and it may be reported to the house this week. The trend of opinion in the committee favors a resolution expressing it as the sense of congress that a state of war exists in Cuba, and requesting the president to issue his proclamation recognizing the insurgents as belligerents.

The report on the contested election case of Van Horn vs. Tarsney, from the Fifth Missouri district, which has been submitted to the house, can be called up by the committee at any time as it is a matter of higher privilege than an appropriation bill. The report is in favor of the contestant, but a minority report will be filed on Tuesday, recommending that the case be recommitted and the testimony reopened.

Disastrous Accident in a Mine.

REPUBLIC, Mich., Feb. 17.—A terrible accident occurred Saturday in the Republic mine while the men were coming up in the skip from work out of No. 1 shaft. The skip jumped the track and it was pulled on until it caught and turned over on the men. William McGraw, James Dodge, Adolph Boitel and Mathias Tegelberg were instantly killed and Charles Anderson, Erick Marti, James McGraw and Andrew Peterson were badly injured.

Skeleton in a Mine.

MILLERSBURG, O., Feb. 17.—There is much excitement in the vicinity of Wellcome, this county, over the finding of the skeleton of a grown man, in an old abandoned coal mine, on the farm of Stephen Williams. Two men, named Jordan and Allison, leased the mine and were exploring it, when they came upon the body. The bones are supposed to be those of Richard Towell, who disappeared in 1883 or '84.

Lead Ore Discovered.

WASHINGTON, Ind., Feb. 17.—A four-foot vein of lead ore has been discovered in Martin county, near this city.

Michael Balton, aged 55, married, committed suicide at his home at North Vincennes, Ind., by shooting himself twice in the abdomen with a revolver. Business depression and domestic troubles were the causes.

Thieves entered the store of E. P. Mendenhall at Napoleon, O., and carried away a quantity of merchandise and about $200 in cash. Bloodhounds were put on their track, and after following it for several miles lost the scent.

The cornerstone of the new Masonic Temple at Logansport, Ind., was laid with appropriate ceremonies. Tipton lodge, No. 33, and Orient, No. 272, will erect the building, and it will be the finest structure of its size in the state.

At St. Louis, Barbara Kessel, a pretty German girl about 19 years old, yesterday shot and killed John Rohlfing, her lover, and then with the same weapon, a cheap revolver of 32 caliber, fired a bullet into her own brain, dying instantly.

William H. Huggitt, the 22-year-old son of Marvin Huggitt, president of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, shot and killed himself at his father's home on Prairie avenue in Chicago Saturday night. No cause known for the rash act.

A sensation has been caused at Mobile by the arrest of Henry David Hearn, a leading light in the Baptist church, who is accused of causing the death of his wife by administration of nitric acid, which he had obtained from a local physician for alleged analytical purposes.

William Rugenstein of Indianapolis, night watchman at the Pine street railroad crossing, believes that John Breen, who was found dead at the crossing Thursday night, was not killed by a train, but was murdered by a companion. He saw the two men fighting.

Mrs. Laura Faas, Sadie Conroy and James Richardson were badly injured by an explosion of gasoline in a Pullman car at Pittsburg. The women were cleaning the carpets in the car with gasoline when the can was accidentally set on fire. Richardson was the porter of the car.

After being out 30 hours the jury in the case of Frederick Day, president of the Plankinton bank, at Milwaukee, brought in a verdict of acquittal. The bank failed early in the panic of 1893, and Day was charged with receiving deposits after the bank was known to be insolvent.

Emile Davis was hanged at Linn, Mo., Saturday for the murder of Frank Henderson, his sister's sweetheart, in January, 1894, by administering strychnine in a drink of whisky. Davis died protesting his innocence. His parents refused the body. This was the first hanging in Osage county in the history of the state.

Mrs. Eliza J. Nicholson, proprietress of the New Orleans Picayune, died at her home in that city Saturday. She was suffering from the grip when her husband died, a week ago, and the sad event so shattered her system that the disease developed into congestion of the lungs, and without strength to fight off the attack, she sank rapidly into the final sleep.

The so-called Maybrick committee at London, an organization formed for the purpose of working in behalf of the pardon of Mrs. Florence Maybrick, confined in Woking prison on conviction of poisoning her husband, has submitted an exhaustive presentation of their case to the home secretary, presenting new and important matters for his consideration.

Coroner Arbuckle of Cleveland has rendered a decision holding the Canton Wrought Iron Bridge company of Canton, O., criminally responsible for the collapse of the Akron, Bedford and Cleveland electric railway bridge across Tinker's creek, which fell about a month ago, and in which an electric car was precipitated 75 feet into the creek. Two men were killed and another badly injured.

D. Willis James of New York has offered $25,000 towards paying the debt of the American board of commissioners of foreign missions. The gift is to be made on conditions that the $5,000 additional be subscribed before March 1. The board members are making a determined effort to carry out the conditions of the offer. The $90,000 has been apportioned as follows: $35,000 to Boston, $30,000 to New York, and $25,000 to Chicago.

Following the assignment of the private banking firm of Kopperl & Company, which occurred late Friday afternoon, Alexander Kopperl, the banker at 571 South Canal street, Chicago, closed his doors. The news of the closing of his son's bank spread quickly, and the depositors, mostly small tradesmen, started a run on Alexander Kopperl's bank, forcing the assignment. No statement as to assets and liabilities has been filed.

AGGRESSIVE POLICY.

General Weyler Issues Radical Proclamations.

RULING WITH AN IRON HAND.

Sympathizers With the Insurgents Will Be Shown No Mercy at His Hands—Death Penalty Will Be Meted Out to Offenders of His Own Enacted Laws—Latest Information From Cuba.

HAVANA, Feb. 17.—The following is a verbatim copy of a proclamation just issued and made public:

"Don Valeriano Weyler Y Nicolau, marquis of Tenerifo, governor and captain general of the island of Cuba, general-in-chief of the army, etc., desirous of warning the honest inhabitants of Cuba and those loyal to the Spanish cause and in conformity to the laws, does order and command:

"Article 1.—All inhabitants of the district of Sancti Spiritus and the provinces of Puerto Principe and Santiago de Cuba will have to concentrate in places which are the headquarters of a division, a brigade, a column or a troop, and will have to be provided with documentary proof of identity within eight days of the publication of this proclamation in the municipalities.

"Article 2.—To travel in the country in the radius covered by the columns in operation, it is absolutely indispensable to have a pass from the mayor, military commandants or chiefs of detachments. Any one lacking this will be detained and sent to headquarters of divisions or brigades and thence to Havana, at my disposition, by the first possible means. Even if a pass is exhibited which is suspected to be inauthentic or granted by authority to persons with known sympathy towards the rebellion or who show favor thereto rigorous measures will result to those responsible.

"Article 3.—All owners of commercial establishments in the country districts will vacate them and the chiefs of columns will take such measures as the success of their operations dictates regarding such places, which, while useless for the country's wealth, serve the enemy as hiding places in the woods and in the interior.

"Article 4.—All passes hitherto issued hereby become null and void."

General Weyler issued another proclamation in which he assumes the judicial attitudes of the island. He says:

"Prisoners caught in action will be subjected to the most summary trial without any other investigation except that indispensable for the objects of the trial. When the sentence is pronounced, if the sentence be deprivation of liberty, the culprit will be brought to Havana with the papers in the case so that the testimony can be issued as to the penalty and the sentence be carried into effect."

"I reserve the right of promoting and sustaining all questions of competence, with other jurisdictions, as also with the military and to determine inhibitions in all kinds of military processes in the territory of the island. I reserve likewise the faculty of assuming an inquiry into all cases when it is deemed convenient."

"No sentence of death shall be effected without the acknowledgement by my authority of the testimony of the judgment, which must be sent to me immediately, except when no means of communication exists, or when it is a case of insult to superiors or of military sedition, in which case sentence will be carried out and the information furnished to me afterward."

A third proclamation is issued in which General Weyler says:

"I make known order and command that the following cases are subject to military law, amongst others specified by the law:

"Those who invent or propagate by any means notices or assertions favorable to the rebellion shall be considered as being guilty of offenses against the integrity of the nation whenever such notices facilitate the enemy's operations."

"Those who destroy or damage railroad lines, telegraph or telephone wires or apparatuses connected therewith, or those who interrupt communications by opening bridges or destroying highways."

"Incendiaries in town or country or those who cause damage."

"Those who sell, facilitate, convey or deliver arms or ammunition to the enemy or who supply such by any other means, or those who keep such in their power or tolerate or deal in such through the customs and employees of customs who fail to confiscate such importations will be held responsible."

"Those who, being telegraphists, divulge telegrams referring to the war, or who send them to persons who should not be cognizant to them."

"Those who, through the press or otherwise, revile the prestige of Spain, her army, the volunteers or firemen, or any other force that co-operates with the army."

"Those who, by the same means, endeavor to extol the enemy."

"Those who supply the enemy with horses, cattle or any other war resources."

"Those who act as spies, and to these the utmost rigor of the law will be applied."

"Those who serve as guides, unless surrendering at once and showing the proof force majeure, and giving the troops evidence at once of loyalty."

"Those who adulterate army food or conspire to alter the prices of provisions."

"Those who by messenger pigeons, fireworks, or other signals, communicate news to the enemy."

"The offenses enumerated, when the law prescribes the death penalty or life imprisonment, will be dealt with most summarily."

SPEAKING of the phenomenal subscription for the new bond issue, Henry Clews says:

There has been no idea that any such amount of capital was lying around unemployed as the bids for the loan have revealed. It is argued that, when confidence is measurably restored—as it should be under the twelve months' protection of the reserve now secured—a portion of this six hundred millions of funds will be found available for the fostering of new corporate enterprises; and the reasoning appears to be well founded.

It is understood that an important sum of the loan goes to the German Reichsbank, and that other sums have been awarded to representatives of Continental investors. These engagements place so much to our credit in Europe and will have an easing effect upon the foreign exchanges; which, according to current symptoms, do not seem likely to give us much inconvenience for the next few months. Thus the conditions affecting Wall street interests and the general business of the country have entered on a new and entirely more hopeful phase, and the current year should show more prosperous results than were realized in 1895.

The Litigation Over the Office of Chief of Police.

The case of William Serey vs. George Worthington, for possession of the office of Chief of Police, of Ashland, was decided at Catlettsburg Friday night in Serey's favor, allowing him two years yet to serve.

The decision is in line with the claims of Chief of Police Ort, of this city. It is stated that Worthington will carry the case to the Court of Appeals.

THAT FAILURE.

A Card From Messrs. Fant and Pearce of the Deposit Bank of Pearce, Fant & Co.

TO THE PUBLIC.
A great calamity has befallen our community. An honest and upright man, who has had the confidence of this county for now almost forty years, has been compelled to make an assignment. This, of course, will cause great doubt and want of confidence in the community.

Now in order to satisfy the curious and doubtful, we, the undersigned, who own $147,000 of the stock in the Deposit Bank of Pearce, Fant & Co. hold ourselves individually responsible to every depositor for every cent he or she may have in the bank. Besides this statement, we are, by our charter, bound for double the amount of our stock. We desire any who have any doubt of the bank, or our individual responsibility, not to lose any sleep, but call at once and they will receive in current funds, all that we hold in trust for them.

"The Common People."

As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments. What they want is a medicine that will cure them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of this medicine, and this is what many thousands voluntarily say.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills assist digestion, cure headache. 25c.

MANCHESTER Signal: "One of the most charming functions of the social season was the thimble party given by Mrs. John A. Murray, on the afternoon of February 5th, in honor of Mrs. Harriet L. Sexton, of Yellow Springs, Ohio, and Mrs. E. C. Phister and Mrs. Judge Thos. Phister, of Maysville, Kentucky. The guests having arrived were gathered around a work table, where were found many bright silken quilt pieces which were to be made into squares, the person making the greatest number in a given time to receive first prize. Mrs. Biggar being the fortunate one, received a beautiful china cake plate. Mrs. E. C. Phister winning the consolation prize was given a copy of Howells' 'Five O'clock Tea.'"

PARIS Kentuckian: "Twenty-five years ago last Wednesday, Elder J. S. Sweney preached his first sermon as pastor of the Paris Christian Church. The great change in the congregation he found lapse of quarter of a century has witnessed when he entered upon his pastoral charge. Many have changed location, and scores have been cut down by the scythe of death, until now as he looks from his pulpit hardly sees a face into which he gazed when he delivered his first discourse in the sacred edifice. He has labored zealously and effectively, accomplished much good, his flock love him and 'rise up and call him blessed.'"

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whisky nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents per bottle at J. James Wood's drug store.

From Infancy

My daughter was troubled with scrofula. A swelling formed in one of her ears and broke open. It discharged freely and the whole side of her head became affected. The trouble continued ten years and she lost the hearing in that ear. After an attack of typhoid fever she was left very weak. She coughed and raised a great deal. We resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking six bottles she was greatly improved. Now the sores are perfectly healed and she has good hearing in that ear." Mrs. M. WILKINSON, Parham, Tenn.

A FARMER at Melbourne, Campbell County, struck himself on the knee with an ax, shattering the knee-cap and cutting a deep wound. Instead of calling in a doctor, he took the advice of an ignorant neighbor and put wood ashes into the wound and sewed it up, to keep the "joint oil from oozing out." He was soon almost crazy from the pain, and if the doctors now succeed in saving his leg he will be fortunate indeed.

DR. JOHN HENRY, Cincinnati's noted hypnotist, died at the home of J. L. Thomas, near Bristol, Tenn., Friday. Dr. Henry had recently been lecturing in Richmond, Va., and while there had an ingrowing toe nail removed, and as a result blood poison set in and was followed by gangrene. Physicians amputated his leg below the knee joint with the hope of saving his life, but the shock proved too great and he never rallied. Dr. Henry will be remembered by many people in Maysville. He instructed a class in psychology and hypnotism some years ago in this city, and gave several public exhibitions of his wonderful power.

A FIEND'S WORK.

Horrible Are the Details of This Terrible Tragedy.

Robert Laughlin's Awful Triple Crime.
Confessed All—Brought Here
For Safe Keeping.

As announced in the BULLETIN Saturday an awful crime was committed near Augusta the night before.

The names of the victims were not ascertained in time for Saturday's issue nor were the details of the terrible crime given.

The unfortunates who met such an awful fate were the wife of Robert Laughlin and her niece May Jones, aged thirteen. Laughlin is a farmer and lived on the Rock Springs pike, about three miles from Augusta. The parents of Miss Jones live at Augusta, and she was spending the night with her aunt.

About 4 o'clock Saturday morning Laughlin appeared at the home of his sister, Mrs. Cracken, a quarter of a mile from his own home, clad only in his night clothes and covered with blood. He said that himself, wife and little niece were asleep, when he was awakened by a knife being drawn across his throat.

Grappling with his assailant, he arose from his bed and knocked the assassin down with his fist. At this juncture a confederate standing behind Laughlin struck him in the face with a burning torch. Mr. Laughlin said he retreated to his front yard, and, being followed by one of his assailants, ran to the home of his sister.

The neighbors were aroused, and when the first of them reached the scene they found the house a seething mass of flames and no one could enter the burning building. When daylight came a search of the ruins was made. In one corner of the cellar lay the headless trunk of Mrs. Laughlin. Sleeping with Mrs. Laughlin had been little May Jones, her niece, and the headless and armless body of the child was found in another corner of the ruins.

Mr. Laughlin showed two cuts on the neck, a long gash extending from ear to ear and one smaller, both under the chin. He said he did not know whether his wife and niece were killed before he was attacked or not, or whether, while he was absent to warn his neighbors, the woman and child were murdered. All he knew was that when he returned he found his dead wife and niece. Mr. Laughlin had no idea who the murderers were or what their motives were in their bloody work.

The house in which the tragedy occurred was a log house of four rooms, and Mr. Laughlin was sleeping in the room with his wife and niece, occupying a bed only a few feet from theirs.

A special says: "Captain E. W. Fitzgerald, special detective for the C. and O. railroad, arrived at 11 o'clock and proceeded at once to the scene of the murder. Mr. Fitzgerald was in company with Marshal Wm. Sayers, of Augusta, and in the name of Acting Coroner Lunderback demanded the underclothing and outer shirt of Robert Laughlin. Laughlin objected to handing them over. Upon examination the neck of the overshirt, which was of heavy checked cotton, was thoroughly saturated with blood. Just beneath the undershirt it was found equally as bloody, and both sleeves of shirts were saturated with blood.

"The front of the undershirt at its lower edge was also bloody. The drawers show the same signs. After securing the large for her age. After securing the clothing Detective Fitzgerald placed it before Sheriff Fronk, of Brooksville, who, with his Deputy, was present, and begged that he place Laughlin under arrest, but the former refused to do so, on the ground that Laughlin had many friends, and such action might get him into serious trouble."

The special adds: "Since the murder occurred Laughlin has made a few conflicting statements, as well as some that are regarded as peculiar, if true. In first telling of his struggle with the alleged assassin, he said that he did not think of reaching for his revolver, which was in his trousers, at the head of the bed. He afterward stated that he got his gun, but before he could use it, the murderer took it from him, at which he ran from the house that had already been set on fire by the assassins, toward that of his sister, Mrs. McCracken.

"To Detective Fitzgerald he said that he ran the quarter of a mile between his house and that of his sister in his bare feet. Detective Fitzgerald thereupon had him remove his shoes and stockings, but did not find the slightest bruise upon either of them. The road between the two houses is very rough. Detective Fitzgerald then examined his hand, and while doing so it shook like a leaf. Upon careful examination he discovered blood in the crevices of the skin on the back of his hand, which is severely chafed from wind and weather.

Bloodhounds were taken to the scene, and followed a trail into Augusta, but it developed that this was probably the track of Laughlin's brother-in-law Jones who was out Friday at the Laughlin home.

A fiend incarnate.
That term might well be applied to Robert Laughlin.

He murdered his wife, ravished and murdered her little niece, and then burned the house and bodies to conceal his awful crimes.

Laughlin confessed to Marshal Sayers, of Augusta, and Detective Fitzgerald last night between 9 and 10 o'clock. The matter was kept as quiet as possible, because the officers well knew they would be powerless to save the wretch's neck.

In a room at one of the hotels, they anxiously awaited the coming of the steamer Courier, and at an early hour this morning they boarded the boat, with Laughlin and brought him to this city for safe keeping.

The particulars of the terrible crime are sickening in the extreme.

Briefly, according to Laughlin's confession, he got up Saturday morning about 3 o'clock and built a fire. Suddenly he seized a heavy poker, and with one blow brained his wife who was lying on the bed. He then ravished her niece and afterwards murdered the child, the iron poker being again used as the instrument of death.

Later, he says he tried to cut his own throat but if he did his courage failed, and he then concocted the story first told above. The cuts on his throat, however, were evidently made to bear out that story.

Laughlin had hitherto borne a good reputation. He says he does not know what came over him and prompted him to commit such a crime.

Coming up on the steamer this morning, he remarked to Captain Fitzgerald: "I knew it was all up with me when you made me hand over my underclothing."

This awful crime was shrouded in considerable mystery Saturday morning, but the shrewd work of Detective Fitzgerald, assisted by Marshal Sayers, has promptly fastened the crimes upon the perpetrator, and it remains for the courts to as promptly mete out the punishment.

BENEFIT CONCERT.

Let the Opera House Be Crowded to the Doors To-morrow Night.

The benefit concert which our local vocalists and thespians are to give to-morrow night at the opera house will be an entertainment replete with choice gems and brimful of repartee and fun.

The first part of the program will be styled and dressed appropriate to the times of 1776. There are no more beautiful costumes than the colonial, certainly no melodies so deliciously sweet as the quaint songs of ye olden times.

The evenings entertainment will conclude with an up-to-date farce in one act, by John Kendrick Bangs, rollicking, absurd, ridiculous in situation and laughable in every effect.

The cause for which this entertainment is to be given is a noble and worthy one. The Washington Fire Company is to be the beneficiary, so the more people who attend the abler will this company be to pay its indebtedness.

Get your ticket and be in your seat by 8 o'clock.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without results everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at J. James Wood's. What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other harmful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kincheloe,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Archer, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

SMALL FIGHTS DECLARED OFF. But Little Prospects of the Big One Being Fought.

EL PASO, Feb. 17.—All the small fights have been declared off. There never has been strong probability that they would be pulled off and Barry and Dixon stopped work yesterday morning. There was for a time chances of the Everhart-Leeds match being brought about, but the management refused to take chances on giving away the secret of their battleground and everybody agrees that one fight will be the limit, as only one can be had, it was decided that the big one should stand, and the others went by the board accordingly. The management will pay all forfeits on the small fights, $250 to each man, and the fighters are at liberty to go home as soon as they like.

The managers of the fight are confronted with a new obstacle. The portion of the purses subscribed by the citizens of El Paso expires by limitation tomorrow, if the fight is not off by that time. Some of the subscriptions are unpaid, and the chances are now that they will never be.

Maher's eyes are getting better. His manager said: "Maher will not fight until he has a chance to win, no matter what it costs me personally. I am sure he will be able to win by Friday, and I want to wait until that time. What Julian and Fitzsimmons will do I can not tell."

Julian and Fitzsimmons are much disgusted over the outlook and have no hesitancy in expressing their opinions. They claim to have been ready at any time during the past month and that the other side was not. They have engagements in the east for the latter part of February and are anxious to keep them.

Stuart's confidence is still supreme. He is doing no talking these days but simply replies to all questions: "I am ready to pull off the fight any time, and the sooner the men get together the better I will be pleased."

Nearly all of the prize fighters went over to Juarez yesterday afternoon to attend the bull fights. Four horses, worth about $3 each, were gored to death, four bulls were tortured and slain, and the arena was covered with blood. The Mexican's, as usual, howled with delight at the spectacle of a horse being ripped open, but the fighters came back disgusted to the last degree. Fitzsimmons, Leeds, Barry, Walcott, Everhart and Dixon were there.

"Fighting is golf to this blooming bloody game," remarked Fitzsimmons in wrath after he had seen the third bull butchered.

There are very few sporting men left in El Paso now. Al Smith, Jimmy Wakely and a few others are at Hot Springs. The majority of the others have gone home.

Fire in a Tenement House.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—A number of horrible accidents occurred at a fire early Sunday morning in a tenement house at 7 Church street, Soho, behind the Palace theater of varieties. Five children and three adults were burned to death. One man jumped from a window and was impaled upon the railing of a fence. He was removed to a hospital in a dying condition from his injuries. Several other persons escaped from the burning building with the greatest difficulty with burned faces and hands.

Mrs. Lease's First Sermon.

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 17.—Mrs. Lease delivered her first sermon last night at the Central Church of Christ, and her reception was most flattering. Contrary to expectations she kept clear of sensationalism, and spoke with great force and eloquence upon "Love, the Key-stone of the Arch." Thousands were unable to gain admission to the church.

He has been twenty-seven years since he left. He is now forty years old. He has a great many relatives in this county and Fleming and some in Maysville.

MAYSICK, Feb. 15, 1896.

Roscoe & McCarthy: I was born and raised one mile of Mayslick on my father's farm, now owned by my cousin, A. T. Fox. I now have the pleasure of visiting my old home after twenty-seven years. In 1869, with my mother, three brothers and sister, I moved to Covington, Ky. In 1871 we moved to old Missouri. The boys were wild Kentuckians and spent a fortune of $54,000. We also owned fifteen slaves. Three years ago I reformed and have taken upon myself the cross of Christ. Have gotten into the promised land and thank the Lord I am on Emmanuel's mountains that are within sight of His city. I was received with welcome back to my old home by the people of Mayslick and neighborhood. The first man who received me was Brother A. Jackson. He was as glad as any father would have been to receive his lost boy. I started from Tennessee three months ago for my native town but have just gotten here. I preached one hundred sermons on the road. I want to thank Brother Jackson and wife, the Myalls, Brother Duke and wife and all others who have received me with open arms and made my poor sad heart glad. I assure you, kind editors and friends, any assistance you render me will be most highly appreciated and gladly reciprocated when opportunity presents. I do not find the town of Mayslick the same. There have been many changes. Some of the old brothers and sisters have gone to that home, that city whose builder and maker is God. I will remain in this neighborhood for a few days and then, God willing, I will go to old Missouri. Pray for me that I may be valiant for God's truth. Fraternally,

Geo. D. P. Kemper,
Christian minister.

EAST LIMESTONE.

Mrs. Fannie Hise spent the past week in Maysville, visiting relatives and friends.

J. P. Mullen, of Maysville, was the guest of his cousin, Miss Nannie Hise, the latter part of the week.

Dave Stewart, of Bridgeport, who has been spending the winter in Ohio, was visiting old friends here last week, who regret that his health has not improved.

While Mrs. R. C. Williams had company Monday evening the wind which was seemingly unprecedented came in at an open door with such force that a large lamp was hurled from a stand, but fortunately was caught in time to prevent an explosion. The breaking of the chimney and globe was the only damage.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The Journey of a Silver Quarter.

Captain Monroe Bateman, of Columbia, Mo., received a 25-cent piece last week which bore the initials, deeply engraved, "C. P. B." "In 1858," said Mr. Bateman, "at Minerva, Ky., my brother stamped those letters on this quarter, which I received yesterday from Mr. Jones in payment for some hogs. I recognize the piece from the peculiar situation of the P. Follow that piece of money in its long travels if you can and weave a romance upon its adventures."

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

BAD TIMES?

Well, we should say so. Those Clocks and Watches are too badly out of fix to be of any use. They've lost their time entirely. You'll lose your time, too, if you're unsatisfied with good Clocks and watches. We have a full supply of both, all accurate time-keepers and in perfect order. Better Watches than ours are not manufactured. Whatever the price of any watch we carry, it's the best of its kind and a full value. Get a timepiece; get the best; get ours.
